Villa Maria Renovations

Renovations are going strong at Villa Maria. Residents have moved into the new areas and jack hammers and saws continue to rip out old walls and flooring. This past week, renovations got a little close to the chapel. This coming week our daily Masses on Tuesday, July 2nd and Thursday, July 4th will be moved to the Church. They will be at the regular time, 8:00 A.M. We will keep you posted for the following weeks. It is anticipated this will be the only week that we will need to make the change. Pay attention to the bulletins to get the latest. Keep the residents and staff of Villa Maria in your prayers. I am sure they are ready for construction to be finished.

Library

Did you know that we have a Parish Library? It is located right next to our parish offices. If you need some spiritual reading or want to learn more about the faith, stop in and browse through our books. The library will be open on the weekends. If you visit it through the week and the door is locked, just stop in the office and we'll unlock it for you. It is a self-service library with instructions posted on how to check out books. Help yourself to some good spiritual reading.

The Experiment Continues

It is said that 243 years ago the founding fathers (and mothers) of our country set out on an experiment. An experiment of a new form of government that would provide the citizens of the United States with opportunities, rights and freedoms that up until then had been unheard of in the history of the world. In these 243 years mistakes have been made. Corruption and scandals have caused discontent and hardships. But, the experiment goes on. We do not have to look far to see problems and difficulties in our future but we continue. We have been called upon by other nations, by downtrodden peoples, by failing societies and cultures for financial, military, political and even religious assistance. We are happy to give, sometimes we give until it hurts, sometimes we give until blood is shed and lives are lost. We continue. Scriptures tell us that much will be expected of those that have been given much. No one can deny that we have been given much. Blessings have been bestowed upon us that are unequalled in the world. Much is expected of us. We are Catholics. We are Christians. We are Americans. We have every right to be proud. We eagerly give, but not just because we have been given much and are expected to give much in return. We eagerly give because we follow the example of Christ. We give because we love. We want the best for our fellow Americans, for our allies and even for our enemies. As we celebrate Independence Day, do not forget to pray in thanksgiving for all that we have been given, for all that we work and fight for. Pray that we may continue what our founding fathers and mothers began 243 years ago. Pray that through our efforts the experiment continues for generations to come. May God continue to bless us. Happy 4th of July, be safe, be careful, be filled with pride and joy.
~Fr. John~
